

OpenFabrics Alliance

New Web Site Capabilities

Author: Ken Strandberg, OFA Webmanager, Catlow Communications
Date: April 5th, 2011

Strategies - OFA Needed

- Public / User Communications Tool
- Content/Information Deployment Tool
- Content Consumption Tracking Tool
- Way to Disseminate AND Protect
- Ability to Integrate Development, Communications & Support Processes Under a Single Umbrella

What We Have Today

- Open Content Available to Visitors
- Trackable Content Available to Registered Users
- Controlled Downloadable Content Available to
 - Registered Users
 - Members only
 - Working Group members only
 - Training Attendees
 - You name it, we can control it
- Open Support Dialog
- Manageable System to Add Expert Content / More Value

Content Overview

- All the Standard Stuff
- But, We Can Add More
 - Contributed Articles
 - Blogs
 - FAQs
 - Category / Topic-based Support Forum
 - Value-added Downloadable Content

Developer Resources

- Git – has not changed – git.openfabrics.org
- Lists - have not change – just how you join
- Working Groups – still there
- Source Code – still there – access is different
 - In future we will track downloads
 - Please provide download form information – not required
- Forum – Support the Community
 - Become a moderator, subscribe to posts
- Contribute Content